First ANZAC Wreathlaying for 2009

The Australian War Memorial will tomorrow host a special wreathlaying ceremony for residents of local aged care facilities.

The special ceremony gives war veterans, war widows, widowers and aged care residents (who may not be able to attend ANZAC Day commemorations) an opportunity to take part in a similar, but smaller ceremony.

The Minister for Veterans' Affairs, the Hon. Mr Alan Griffin MP, will deliver the Commemorative Address.

Local students from Campbell High School and Ainslie Primary School will assist during the ceremony.

This service has been held annually since 2003 and is a successful collaboration between the Australian War Memorial and the Department of Veterans' Affairs.
